

Mines of the County

Big Mining Deal Completed

This week James A. Roberts arrived from New York City and made the final payment on account of the purchase of the Gold Crown group of mines, the amount being estimated at $5,000. O. D. M. Gaddis and the Sauls estate were the sellers, the money being divided evenly between them. The mines have been under operation the past two years by the Frisco Mines and Power company, the property being equipped with a big milling plant and the mines exploited to a considerable extent. Nearly a million tons of 128 ore has been blocked out and a method of treatment evolved that gives a high saving of values.

Now that the company is the sole owner of the property it is probable that a great milling plant will be put in capable of working 500 or more tons of ore daily. The recent purchase of the Burns ranch makes it possible to get all the water that is necessary for a big mill. That the mine is capable of furnishing the ore is certain, but the big mill is necessary to make the proposition one of the big mines of the country.

The many friends of O. D. M. Gaddis will be pleased to learn of his good fortune and hope that many more mining sales will be made by him in the future, as he has been one of the biggest investors in the mines of the county of all the business interests combined.

F. T. Powell, who recently obtained an option on the Iowa group of mines from Frank L. Hunt and others, is getting a hoisting plant for the property and will have it in commission within the next ten days. He is also making a camp at the mines and will have every convenience. A pipe line about a mile in length will convey water to the camp. A large amount of supplies have already gone out and more is to follow shortly. A force of men will soon be at work deepening the main shaft and developing the property below the present depth. The mine has great possibilities and is in one of the best mineralized sections of San Francisco district.

The drift from the bottom of the 700 foot shaft of the Tennessee mine, under the operation of the Needles Mining & Smelting company, is fast approaching the point where the old ore shoot is expected to be penetrated. Some exceptionally rich bodies of lead ore have already been cut, but it is thought that a regular shoot will be found under the old workings. On the 600 level, the miners that worked there claim a great ore body was opened, the floor of that drift being composed entirely of ore. So it is reasonable to expect a big ore body on the 700 below that point.

Gov. John Lind came in from San Francisco last Tuesday night and departed the following morning to the Hercules camp, where he will visit a few days with general manager A. W. Bratland of that property. Gov. Lind is interested in the Hercules and other mining property in that neighborhood. It is probable that he will soon visit this county again and look into its possibility for large investment. The people of this county would be more than pleased to have a man of the capability and sterling honesty of Gov. Lind to settle down among them and lend a helping hand in the reclamation of the vast tracts of rich land.

F. H. Summeril, who is looking after interests of his Denver associates at Gold Road, was a Kingman visitor this week. He has made an examination of the Dudek tungsten mines, situated twelve miles east of Yucca, and it is probable that development work will soon be under way on the properties. The mines have a fine showing of ore in all the openings, Mr. Dudek and partners having done a large amount of work that shows up the prospective value of the property to advantage.

W. H. Hall, who owns valuable mining property in the Weaver District, arrived from Los Angeles a few days ago and went on to Chloride. Mr. Hall states that the people that recently took over the Woody mines will begin active development of the property shortly. The mines showed immense values in gold on the surface and produced some of the heaviest gold ever found in that section.

Henry Lovin is in Los Angeles looking after important business matters.

Off to the Fair.

Today and tomorrow a large number of Kingman people will leave for Phenix, where they will spend the next week seeing the sights of the fair. It is expected that those that will go will have the time of their lives, the weather man predicting the finest weather of all the year during the big doings. Flying machines, fast horses, fast automobiles and all the big pigs, bogs, cattle, horses, puppy dogs, and pussy cats, but hush! Don't mention the mineral exhibits, because the management is trying to have the people forget that this territory has made its reputation by its vast mining interests and that the alfalfa fellows are the only ones that are to be considered in the big show.

Wedding Bells

Last Sunday, at Flagstaff, T. L. Cornwall and Miss Ida Stephens were united in marriage, the happy young couple returning to Kingman that night and departing to their home on the Big Sandy the following day. Mr. Cornwall is the son of Hon. Ad. Cornwall, and Mrs. Cornwall is the eldest daughter of W. B. Stephens, member of the Board of Supervisors of this county. The happy young couple have the best wishes of a host of friends for a long and happy married life.

M. I. Powers, of the Citizens Bank of Flagstaff, was a Kingman visitor this week looking after business interests. He expects to get into his new banking quarters in Kingman about the 15th of next month. The new bank will have a capitalization of $50,000 and will be prepared to take care of all business that may be offered it.

The Kingman Auto company and the Northern Arizona Auto company have merged and are now to be known as the Kingman Auto Company. The company is composed of M. G. Wagner, F. E. Carrow and J. P. Gideon. The company now have a large number of cars and are equipped to handle all the business that may be offered by the traveling public.

Dr. Paul McIntosh returned this week from Phenix, where he took the necessary examination that entitles him to practice dentistry in the territory. Owing to the apparent desire of the examining board to restrict the number of practicing dentists in Arizona the examinations are made unusually hard.

Last Saturday night J. P. Gideon and Frank L. Hunt returned from Florence where they delivered Apollonio Flores over to the territorial prison authorities. Flores was sentenced last week to fifteen years in the pen on a conviction of murder in the second degree for causing the death of a man named Frank Kelly by biting off part of Kelly's nose.

A well for stock and domestic purposes is being sunk in Wallapai valley in the vicinity of Wallapai station, a mile from the railroad. If water is found above bedrock it is the purpose of the people in charge of the project to sink a deep well in hopes of getting an artesian flow.

Last Monday evening Manager Lang announced the result of the voting on the ring contest at the Elks Opera House, Miss Viola Hoffman being awarded the diamond ring, as the most popular young lady.

Charles Standish and James Collins came in from the mines near Thumb Butte a few days ago, having completed a large amount of work on the mines there, besides prospecting that section for mining property.

Mrs. and Mr. Ralph Bulkeley returned from a trip through central California a few days ago and will leave in a day or two for their home in the east part of the county.

D. C. Rood, of Duluth, Minn., passed through Kingman Wednesday on his way to the Hercules mines, where he will look over the holdings of the company.

H. L. McComb arrived last night from his home in Los Angeles and will look after business matters for a few days.

Raymond Carr returned from a month's trip to Denver, where he looked after important business affairs.

About 468 was realized at the church social last Tuesday evening and a good time was had by all.

101 Ranch Real

Wild West Show.

The performance given by the 101 Ranch Real Wild West Show which will be here Tuesday November 7 is so distinctively different from that given by any other similar organization that it cannot be likened to any so called western exhibition that was ever before seen in this section. It is truly western not only in the graphic portrayals but the participants are real western characters and not of eastern birth and associations. They have not acquired the western manners, but are to the manner born.

For many years Wild West Shows have been an important factor in the amusement world, but never until the organization of the 101 Ranch Real Wild West Show was the opportunity offered to see the west as it was years ago and as it is at present. While other owners of wild west exhibitions based their merits on long haired individuals and pseudo military titles the 101 Ranch wild west has acquired success solely on the truthful and graphic manner in which they transplant the west of the prairies to the very doorsteps of your homes. In other words every day life on the great 101 Ranch at Bliss, Oklahoma is lived in the huge arena of the show. Not only is this a feature that no other Wild West Show has been able to produce but in doing it the 101 Ranch Wild West Show has been able to bring into play character that could not be obtained from any other quarter than the ranch, which is owned by Miller Brothers, who with Mr. Edward Arlington are the owners of the Show. In other words no other show has the same source of supply.

In organizing the show for the present season the same policy that has governed this show since its conception was enforced. That was to select from the hundreds of cowboys and cow girls on the ranch the most expert and thus obtain the very cream of the cowboy and cowgirl element as it truly is. Those on the ranch have learned how this selection is annually made and they seek to be among the ones selected. It is considered an honor greater than any others that could be bestowed to be among those who are selected to represent the ranch with the show. The Indians, who at other times wander over the plains, have got wise to the fact that every spring there are a number of them to be selected to represent the real goods, and this spring in the neighborhood of a thousand of all tribes mingled with those who wintered on the ranch in hopes that they might be among those chosen. Not including the chiefs of the various tribes that are with the show, over one hundred squaws, bucks, medicine men and Indian children were selected from the most prominent and interesting that presented themselves.

When one considers that the 101 Ranch is the Largest Ranch in the World, it does not require a very great stretch of imagination to realize that the possibilities to organize a perfect Wild West show from the material at hand are limitless, and of such a nature as to preclude all thoughts of any other organization obtaining them. The fact that this ranch is the home of the show and owned by the same men as is the show, gives it a ring of truthfulness that none of the so called wild west shows can boast of. It is only the truth here to state that the 101 Ranch Wild West Show is the only one of western origin and the only one that has a western home. Every other so called wild west show engages its people in the east, and those who have homes, have them east of Chicago. This is why the 101 Ranch Real Wild West show, to discriminate it from the counterfeits, uses the word "real" in its title.

J. R. Sauls, his mother. Mrs. Sauls, and sister, Mrs. Mary Mason, of Aurora, Nebraska, were Kingman visitors this week. The family received the final payment on account of the sale of the Gold Dome and Gold Crown groups, now being operated by the Frisco Mines & Power company. This final payment is said to have been in the neighborhood of $30,000. After visiting in Los Angeles and other coast cities they will return to their Nebraska home.

Last Monday evening one of the coaches in train number 7, while climbing Yampai hill, struck a switch point and was swung almost around in the train. Not one of the passengers or train men were hurt, and the trains were delayed only five hours. The accident occurred in the east end of the yard. Had the train been going down hill it is probable that a terrible wreck would have occurred.

Yesterday E. H. Barton, general manager of the Frisco Mines & Power company, came in from that property suffering with a crushed finger. He also brought with him a nice bar of bullion, the result of a recent cleanup of the zinc boxes.
